

Our Bodies, Ourselves Celebrates 50 Years!!

Celebrating 50 years of “Our Bodies, Ourselves” and those advocating for the health and human rights of women and girls globally, then and now

Join OBOS co-founder and former Executive Director, Judy Norsigian, to consider:

“Then and Now: What inspired the 1970s women’s health movement? What fires it today?”

Who’s on board to help answer? YOU!! — at two events with Judy:

April 7 in San Francisco: San Francisco State University, 1600 Holloway Ave, J. Paul Leonard Library, Rm. 121, 4 to 6pm.

Judy and students consider, “Body Politics, Then and Now”

April 10 in Berkeley: the Ed Roberts Campus 3075 Adeline Street, 5 to 7 pm.

Here, Judy is joined by:

Ruth Rosen, author: The World Split Open: How the Modern Women’s Movement Changed America

Marsha Saxton, Disability Rights Scholar and Activist, World Institute on Disability

moderator: Sandra Eder, UC Berkeley Department of History

COME AND HELP CELEBRATE!

For directions click on hyperlinks above or visit:

<https://www.edrobertscampus.org/getting-here/> (For Ed Roberts Campus)

<https://parking.sfsu.edu/visitor-information/driving-directions> (For San Francisco State)

For more information, visit Our Bodies, Ourselves: <https://www.ourbodiesourselves.org>

Event Sponsors: Alliance for Humane Biotechnology, Center for Genetics and Society, Paul K. Longmore Institute on Disability, World Institute on Disability.